The Best of Victoria

As lovers of wine (and all things beverage) we are constantly spoiled for choice in our home state. Here in Melbourne, it's never lost on us how lucky we are to be surrounded by such diverse regions, each playing host to an extensive range of producers and styles.

From historic Rutherglen in the northeast, known for making world class fortified wines, to the Grampians and Great Western where we find hallmark examples of Shiraz. Closer to Melbourne, energetic wines are made from Pinot Noir and Chardonnay in the brisk Macedon Ranges, or for more powerful styles visit the sundrenched Bellarine Peninsula. In the Yarra Valley, sure Chardonnay and Pinot Noir are the stars, but have you ever had a flor-aged Marsanne or an iconic Sauvignon Blanc blend?

The breadth of choice when in Victoria is certainly immense, so we've chosen just a few of our favourites to hopefully offer you a small insight.

Island Life, Island Wine

It's hot. It's sunny. You're on a beach, sipping a cocktail with your feet in the sand. And somehow, just behind you, there are centuries old vineyards producing some of the highest quality vinous rarities the wine world has to offer. But how? Perpetual sea winds, deep rich soils and a long history of winemaking all play their role. Where the complexity lies is in the vast diversity of environment across the European seas.

From Samos and Santorini in the Aegean, to Sardinia and Corsica in the Mediterranean, and Madeira and the Canary Islands way out in the North Atlantic, these European islands produce white, pink, red and fortified wines in a multitude of styles. The small selection below is just a taste of what makes these places much more than summer holiday destinations.

The Tasmanian Lion: Domaine Simha

Winemakers have many origin stories. Some inherit vineyards; some grow up in wine regions; some find a late-in-life second career. Then there are those who serve wine first and decide to make wine second. This story of sommelier-turn-winemaker is not an uncommon one, but very few commit to it with the same tenacity and wholeheartedness as that of Navneet Singh from Domaine Simha.

The journey begins in Delhi where Nav was born, and continues in Sydney where he was a student and waiter. From there, a winemaking and viticulture degree in Adelaide led to working in wineries across Australia. Skip ahead to Europe with coveted tenures at the likes of Château Le Pin in Pomerol and Domaine de l'Arlet in Burgundy. In 2012 Nav and partner Louise Radman finally find their way to Tasmania, a place described by them as the 'final frontier for premium winemaking in Australia'. We certainly agree.

'Simha' comes from the Sanskrit word for 'Lion', and pays homage to the brave choices that led to this duo making some of Tasmania's most considered, honest and enticing wines. Committed to techniques such as 100% whole bunch fermentation, oxidative vinification and ageing without racking off yeast lees, the wines show texture and complexity that balance that hallmark Tasmanian acidity. The diversity of wines from Nav and Lou is immense, and a wonderful way to have a piece of Tasmania (and one piece of Clare Valley...) on this side of Bass Strait.
